

Faringdon Folly Woodland Sculpture trail

The Wonderful Folly Woodland can be visited at any time.

Walk among the trees, listen to the birds, watch out for squirrels or rabbits, play on the logs, seek out the sculptures- there is so much to do.

Can you find all these?

- Storytelling chair (South East)
- Mavka, near the story telling chair
- Ring of Toadstools near the Tower with arrows to help you find things
- Cromwell's Cannon pointing towards Faringdon
- A Troll in a dead tree; (South side just across from the Tower)
- A Fairy House. You can peep inside. (North West quarter)
- 22 Sing a Song of Sixpence blackbirds high in the trees, mostly around the Tower (2 are in the Tower)
- A Field Mouse - quite hard to find (White Horse Hill side)
- A big Mole on the ground (the Brize Norton side)
- A Buzzard (flying high in a tree on the East side)
- A Hare- a bit scary (looking out towards Brize Norton)
- A Bat hanging in a tree
- A squirrel climbing a tree

and.....a giraffe -but please don't feed him. (South West quarter)

Sadly these are no longer present in the woodland

- Lord Berners in a Tree
- The Fairly Useless Bridge or is it a troll bridge?.
- A Giant Pie as in Sing a Song of Sixpence
- A Heart - Good for photos

Volunteers keep the woodland free of litter (from dogs and humans).
Please do take all your litter home.
